Design brief

A chance game for your Prep buddy

Keep this on your desk

Every rule below is non-negotiable.
If your game breaks one of them, it is not finished yet.

1

No reading.

Your buddy may not be able to read yet. Nothing in the game can depend on words.

2

Under two minutes a turn.

Sixty Preps have to get through it.

3

Understood after one demonstration.

You show them once, then they play on their own.

4

The outcome must depend on chance.

Not on skill, not on speed, not on strength.

5

You must be able to list every outcome.

If you cannot list them, you cannot work out the probabilities.

AND ONE MORE THING

A good game here is one a five-year-old can play and enjoy.

Clever is not the same as good. Your buddy is the judge.
